New Flexcon Warehouse Bins Offer Industry's Most Economical and Efficient Storage Solutions

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, NJ, March 1, 2023 – Those in need of a budget-friendly way to efficiently organize their products within limited space will find solutions when they visit Flexcon booth S1822 at this year's ProMat show. Flexcon will showcase its latest line of low-cost plastic warehouse bins designed to put their customers' valuable space to work with total efficiency.

Durable while also being light weight, the corrugated plastic bins are long lasting, with a high strength to weight ratio. Easily stackable, they can be used on shelving, pallet racks, pallets or even directly on the warehouse floor. Since the bins ship flat, they are significantly cheaper to ship, saving about 80% on the freight cost. Assembly is simple, taking only minutes, and when less bins are needed, they can be efficiently stored away flat.

"For over 50 years, we've been providing economical, ergonomically effective design storage and retrieval systems that enable our clients to increase usable space," says Ken Beckerman, president and CMO. "Our latest warehouse bins – the least expensive and most efficient plastic bins in the industry – are a perfect solution to help optimize limited space at a low cost."

Perfect for small to medium sized products they can be used in a range of applications including retail, medical, produce, and manufacturing. The bins are available in more than 60 standard sizes in several colors, as well as any custom size. Custom options include ESD and fire-retardant materials.
